

Felix Editor's Report to Council, 11th June 2007
by Andy Sykes

Felix's financial state

Of course, you will have noticed Felix has not been published for the last few weeks. This is because the Honorary Senior Treasurer for the Media Group, Dr Sunny Bains, has decided that Felix will not be allowed to run on credit, having exhausted all the funds in our account.

The reason we've exhausted all our funds is that invoices have been going unpaid by advertisers. Dave and Aziz have got to work on it, and cheques have been arriving (around £4000 in the last week). Hopefully, Felix will have a cash surplus at the end of the year.

One last Felix?

Assuming the printers will still allow us to print, I intend to publish one last issue of Felix, to be released on the Monday of the last week of term (18th). Dr Bains has agreed to allow this expenditure.

The Handbook

The format for the handbook has been decided after a meeting with the new sabbs, Eric Lai, and Alex Mckee. These should reduce the cost of the handbook and increase its usefulness to new and returning students.
